LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Self-compassion is simply giving the same kindness to ourselves that we would give to others. – Christopher Germer

Dear Nurse Practitioner Colleagues and Students,

Welcome to the 2022 VCNP Annual Conference! VCNP is excited to host an in-person program once again! We know the past two years have been extremely challenging and we appreciate you taking the time to join us. Please be sure to take some time for yourself over these next few days as well, to support your own well-being and rejuvenate.

You will find that the VCNP Conference Committee, chaired by VCNP Education Chair, Helen Willis, ACNP, has put together an amazing program. Our conference includes high-quality programming on timely topics from experienced and diverse speakers that expands the clinical knowledge and advocates for advanced practice nurses through a variety of evidence-based presentations. It also offers multiple networking opportunities to foster the professional development of nurse practitioners across the Commonwealth. The conference provides pharmacy and non-pharmacologic credits across various specialty education tracts. We hope you enjoyed the member discount and encourage you to join, if you are not a member.

As part of our efforts to continue the dialogue on racial challenges, we have hosted experts to speak on various topics at multiple CE events, and we have continued this focus in our conference programming. I know we will all benefit from learning from Jackie Cranford as she speaks on microaggressions. My hope is that we will learn a lot to positively impact efforts to reduce racism, implicit bias, and microaggressions.

I took over as VCNP President in March of 2020, just a few days before our country shut down in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Over the next 18 months nearly everything occurred virtually, including our 2021 conference, which was quite successful! While I have appreciated being able to continue operations virtually, I have really missed seeing our members and being able to meet at various functions. Without hesitation I note that I am extremely grateful we are able to gather in person as we welcome our new president.

While my presidency occurred during an unprecedented time, we continued to work diligently towards reducing practice barriers for NPs and took the opportunity to review member benefits and revise various support programs and develop new member resources. Over the past two years, it has been my absolute honor to represent NPs across our state and make several improvements to support our organization and its members. Here are a few of the highlights from my term.

At the onset of the pandemic, we developed regular communication to support our members through those confusing, and often emotional, first few months. VCNP's COVID-19 resource webpage and resource emails saw record open rates and underwent a format revision to help readers quickly find the information most important to them.

While the pandemic was the main topic of conversation for most, VCNP was very mindful to engage in some other difficult topics, such as racism, implicit bias, and microaggression. As we expanded our social media presence from Facebook and Twitter and added YouTube and Instagram, part of my commitment was to raise awareness of racial equity challenges and highlight the contributions that minorities have had on health care and specifically our profession.

My work as a Director for Quality Improvement came in handy as I identified the need to establish a process for onboarding and supporting leadership transitions. VCNP now has a procedure and resource materials to support the transition process at the board level. Your President-Elect has undergone this process and been part of regular meetings to ensure she is prepared to take over her new role as our new president.

In order to improve communication, we developed a dedicated email address for each Board role. These emails are passed on as leadership changes and ensure that there is no delay in communications during times of transition.

I am grateful to the staff who help manage VCNP. To ensure we were taking the needed time to review contracts and recognize staff for their contributions, we developed a process for contract review and staff evaluation.

To meet the virtual needs to educate members and promote VCNP I worked with staff to develop membership and promotional videos, which were shared in multiple settings.

We also worked diligently to make our website more user friendly, including providing training documents for use by regional leaders and committee chairs and easier access to member forms and resources, including and checklist if you are considering opening your own practice. After receiving member feedback, we also ensured that our website has a search function!

Finally, autorenewal is now available, and we hope you were able to take advantage of it when you renewed! And while you may opt out, we also developed a program by which we can send important text messages to members.

To expand on collaborative opportunities, I was part of the team that organized meetings among presidents of other advanced practice provider organizations. During these monthly meeting we had important dialogues regarding various legislative and practice updates. These meetings have been hugely successful, and I look forward to collaborating more to grow our support for our APP colleagues! VCNP is also represented in leadership roles with AANP and VCHI.

And certainly not least, it was my pleasure to represent our organization before the Virginia House and Senate to promote our 2021 legislation. I look forward to similar opportunities this upcoming year as we work to maintain our two years to autonomous practice. If you do not have your autonomous practice license yet, please consider applying today! And if you have questions, reach out! I, or one of our team members, are happy to help!

Sincerely,

NEEDS ASSESSMENT & OBJECTIVES

The Virginia Council of Nurse Practitioners (VCNP) is a non-profit 501(c)6 organization with nearly 1,800 members. The organizational mission is to facilitate the advancement of the nurse practitioner (NP) profession, enhance continuing professional development through local meetings and the state conference. VCNP leadership promotes political advocacy to influence state and national health policy. The conference also offers collegial networking opportunities, emerging trends in practice management and highlights political issues affecting NP roles and practice. VCNP is committed to providing education for NPs. Educational needs are identified through surveys, practice pattern analysis, previous contact hours activity evaluations, current practice issues and emerging technology. The conference curriculum is developed by the conference planning committee comprised of NP representatives from the regions, the VCNP President, President-Elect and the Conference Chair. It is anticipated that over 300 NPs will be in attendance at the 2022 Annual Conference held at the Omni Homestead Resort, March 2-5, 2022. The Virginia Council of Nurse Practitioners is an approved provider of continuing nursing education by the Virginia Nurses Association, an accredited approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.
